Introduction

This document contains the Huguely Family Tree which traces the geneology of the Huguely family beginning with Matthew Huguely (1829 - 1891) and Amie Keene (1830 - 1907), both of Richmond, Kentucky. The Huguely Family Tree also includes the families of Matthew's brother, George, and Amie's brother, (Unknown). The three primary sources of information that were used to generate this family tree were: (1) Huguely Family Census, completed in 1988, (2)
Huguely Family Census 1996/1997 Update Forms, and (3) Huguely Family Branch Questionnaires.

The Huguely Family Tree is divided into the following sub-sections:

- Huguely Family Tree (1st and 2nd Generations)
- Kentucky Maps
- U.S. Censuses
- Family Tree Directory
- Family Census Update Forms
- Family Branches

The following paragraphs include brief descriptions of each sub-section:

Huguely Family Tree - These pages present Matthew and Amie's children (2nd generation) along with the children of Matthew's brother, George, and Amie's brother, (Unknown), respectively.

Kentucky Maps - These pages present dated county and city maps of Kentucky.
Matthew and Amie resided in Madison County, Kentucky, while his brother, George, resided in Estill County, Kentucky.

U.S. Censuses - These pages present copies of U.S. Censuses taken in 1870 and 1880 for Madison County, Kentucky, and in 1880 for Estill County, Kentucky, respectively. When a census is conducted, the names of those individuals living in a household are recorded. Also, names are recorded according to how they are phonetically pronounced, which may account for some of the misspellings of names.

Family Tree Directory - This directory contains the birth names of the family members included in the Huguely Family Tree. The directory may be of assistance when attempting to specifically locate a name on the family tree. An "N/A" in the 'Mother's Name' column indicates that that individual is not a direct Huguely descendant (usually a spouse and/or other parent).
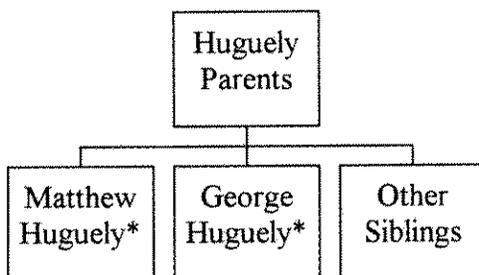

Family Census Update Forms - These forms are used to update the Huguely family tree. If one wishes to make changes, corrections, additions, or deletions to the family tree, this form should be completed.

Family Branches - These pages present the Huguely Family Tree, by individual branch. Each level of the family tree and represents another generation, starting with the 2nd generation, except for George, Matthew's brother, and Amie's brother. Those two trees start with the 1st generation. A vertical line above a box "|" indicates a direct descendant, while a vertical line below a box "|" indicates offspring. Also, an equal-like sign "=" on the side of a box indicates a spouse and/or other parent.
